"A good dog, a brown Irish Water Spaniel for choice, is indispensable."

SIR R. PAYNE-GALLWEY, BART., in "Letters to Young Shooters, 1896."

"A good dog is an indispensable companion to the show-shooter, or to one who tramps the fens and bogs. We have found no dog to equal the brown Irish Water Spaniel, improperly known as a Retriever. He is happier in the water than out of it, and from his small size can follow a teal or duck almost up a drain pipe. He is also a very keen sporter, an affectionate companion, and surely no animal in the world is more intelligent."

Annual Report of the Irish Water Spaniel Association, 1931.

DURING the year that has passed, this Association continued its policy of supporting various Shows throughout Great Britain and Ireland, a record of which will be found on another page. It is deplored that at some of these Shows the entries were not as large as might be hoped. A General Meeting of the Association was held at Cruft's Show and was well attended. Very successful two-days' Field Trials were again held on the Yorkshire Moors, where Col. Birkbeck had once more most generously invited the Association to his delightful grounds at Settle, and where members and others were sumptuously entertained. The entry received was eighteen dogs, which is gratifying in this breed, and the performances were stated by the judges and press to be a considerable advance on previous years' trials. On the second day we were the guests of Mr. Geoffrey Dawson at Rainscar, where excellent well-stocked ground was provided, and where we were cordially entertained.

The winning of the Open Mixed Stake by Mrs. Dawson who so cleverly handled her husband's Labrador in his unavoidable absence, was a highly popular win. Every year it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain suitable ground for Field Trials and this Association owes much to Col. Birkbeck who has placed his shooting at its disposal now for several years.

The winner of the Novice and Open Stakes, Major Court-Treath's charming "Lyddite Joy," I am able to portray from a photo taken on the ground, and the lucky owner is to be congratulated on being the first winner of the Association's Perpetual Field Trial Challenge Cup, recently presented by the President, Viscount de Vesci. Miss Barrington, a consistent supporter of the Field Trial movement, won the Special Prize for best performance in water with her "Cutty Sark." Miss Bligh's "Snipe of Gurteen" (hitherto the only entry from Ireland), obtained a Certificate of Merit. Dr. J. W. Dawson and Mr. A. Gordon very kindly acted as judges, while Mr. T. England was referee.

Our front page this year is occupied by Ch. "Breifny O'Neill," being the winner of the Association's Challenge Cup in the past year.

I have produced a somewhat historic photograph and I think if owners will search back the pedigrees of their dogs they will probably find one of the dogs in this photo appearing as the ancestor. This photo was taken at the Royal Dublin Society's Show where I showed Rock Diver for the last time, and when nine years old he carried off the Championship for the last time, his two sons, Ch. "Poor Pat" and "Our Chance," gaining two firsts and two seconds. Mr. J. J. Holgate's glorious Ch. "Tissington" was another of this famous litter.

It is with the deepest regret I have to record the death of Col. J. K. Millner, a Vice-President of our Association, and a thorough sportsman, as well as being an excellent game shot; at the rifle range on nine occasions, he was of the team that brought the Elcho Shield to Ireland. Though perhaps best known in Irish Setter Circles, he was a great lover of the Irish Water Spaniel, which he bred and kept, and at the time of his death was probably the last of the old brigade who had known Mr. Justin McCarthy and his famous dogs.

During the past year the hand of death has been heavy in several kennels, Mons. Naegely had the irreparable loss of his great little dog, Ch. "Count O'Flan," who since his first win at Cruft's, had won all over the Continent, proving quite invincible wherever he went. It is with much regret I learned of the death of Col. Birkbeck's great Field Trial winner, "Bell of the Falls" (whose portrait appears in our Year Book of 1930), and also of his most promising puppy, "Careful Drake." In my own kennel during the year two of my great friends, Ch. "Breifny Count" and Ch. "The Rose of Sharon" passed over the bourne. Count's progeny throughout the world will keep his name alive, while it is somewhat strange the only four "champion" bitches of this breed at present in the British Isles claim "The Rose of Sharon" as their mother.

I would suggest to members to endeavour to induce new members to join the Association, and that they breed many more Irish Spaniels, so that they become more numerous and better known.

Members may obtain the Association's silver badge, in the form of a brooch, at a moderate cost, by applying to the Hon. Secretary.

Copies of the Rules of the Association, and the Breeders' Cups, as well as the scale of points and description of the Irish Water Spaniel, can be obtained at any time by applying to the Hon. Secretary. It is the earnest desire of the Committee to further the interests of the breed in every way, and suggestions, ideas and criticisms are invited.

F. TRENCH O'RORKE,

Hon. Secretary.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

HEAD.—Skull and muzzle should be of good size; skull high in dome, good length, and fairly wide, showing large brain capacity; muzzle long, strong, and somewhat square in appearance; face perfectly smooth. Topknot should consist of long, loose curls, growing down into a well-defined peak between the eyes, and should not be in the form of a wig, i.e. growing straight across.

EYES.—Comparatively small dark brown and very intelligent-looking.

EARS.—Very long and lobe-shaped in the leather, set low, hanging quite close to the cheeks, and covered with long, twisted curls of live hair.

NECK.—Fairly long, strong, and arching (carrying the head well above the level of the back), and strongly set into the shoulders.

BODY (including size and symmetry).—Fair sized, round and barrel shaped; so stout and compact-like as to convey a "cobbiness" in appearance. Height—Dogs about 21 to 23 inches at shoulder; bitches about 20 to 22 ins.

NOSE.—Large and well developed, and of a dark liver colour.

SHOULDERS AND CHEST.—Shoulders very powerful, but not too straight or "cloddy"; chest deep, but not too wide or round between the fore-legs, though large in girth, with ribs well-sprung behind the shoulders.

BACK AND LOINS.—Back, short, broad, level, and very powerfully coupled to hind quarters. Ribs carried well back, and loins deep and wide.

HIND QUARTERS.—Very powerful, with long, well-bent stifles, and hocks set low.

STERN.—Short and smooth, strong and thick at root (where it is covered for three or four inches with short curls), and, gradually tapering, ends in a fine point. It should not be long enough to reach the hock joint, and should be carried nearly level with the back in a straight line.

FEET AND LEGS.—Feet large, somewhat round and spreading, well-clothed with hair, both over and between the toes, but free from any superfluous feather. Fore-legs, well-boned and straight, with arms well let down, and carrying the forearm at elbow and knee, in a straight line with point of shoulder.

COAT.—Composed of dense, tight, crisp, ringlets, entirely free from woolliness; the fore-legs covered with feather, which should be abundant all round, though shorter in front, so as only to give a rough appearance; below the hocks the hind-legs must be smooth in front, but feathered behind down to the feet.

COLOUR.—A very rich puce liver, white on chest objectionable.

GENERAL APPEARANCE.—That of a smart, up-standing, strongly built, but not leggy dog, combining great intelligence and endurance, with a bold and dashing eagerness of temperament, and a characteristic gait, distinctive of the breed which is a different movement to that of any other variety of Spaniel.

Name and Objects of the Association.

I.—The Club shall be called the IRISH WATER SPANIEL ASSOCIATION. Its objects shall be—(a) To promote the breeding of pure Irish Water Spaniels; (b) To define precisely and publish a description of the true type, and to urge the adoption of such type on breeders, judges, &c., as the only recognised and unvarying standard by which Irish Water Spaniels shall be judged; (c) To do all in its power to protect and advance the interests of the breed by offering prizes at Dog Shows, establishing Field Trials, and adopting such other means as may be deemed advisable.

Establishment and Constitution.

No one shall be entitled to the privileges of membership or to win any special prizes offered by the Club until his Annual Subscription shall have been paid. The liability of a Member shall not exceed his Annual Subscription. That any Member failing to pay his Subscription by 1st February shall be reminded of the omission by the Hon. Secretary, and should it remain unpaid by first March it shall be within the power of the Committee to erase his name from the list of Members.

The Committee shall also have the power of making Bye-Laws, and deciding upon all matters in dispute, or not provided for by the Rules. Notices of both meetings shall be sent to the accused Member advising him of the place, date and hour and that he may attend and offer an explanation. If at the Special General Meeting a resolution to expel is passed by a two-thirds majority of the Members present and voting, his name shall be forthwith erased from the List of Members, and he shall thereupon cease for all purposes to be a Member of the Club, except that he may within two calendar months appeal to the Kennel Club upon and subject to such conditions as the Kennel Club may impose.

Training Irish Water Spaniels as Gun Dogs.

At a General Meeting of the Irish Water Spaniel Association in February, 1926, the following suggestions were formulated for the guidance of trainers and handlers of these dogs at Field Trials, etc.

- (i.) Absolute steadiness to shot, feather and fur in any circumstances.
- (ii.) "Dropping" (which includes "sitting" or "standing") when commanded to do so, and remaining so until directed otherwise.
- (iii.) May be required to beat out any rushy, swampy place, or other covert that a Retriever would ordinarily be expected to face, as the Judges may require.
- (iv.) No artificial means may be used to induce a dog to enter water apart from the sanctions of legitimate handling (e.g., no stones, sticks, or such like, may be thrown in).
- (v.) These dogs should work, largely, to "hand-signals," as silence, and the absence, as far as possible, of whistling and noise, on the part of the handler, is essential.
